Note from the President - Matthew Stevens

Hello Fairway Estates! I hope 2022 is going well and you're enjoying the best weather in the country. I'm sure many are looking forward to the annual Spring Fling. We'll continue to monitor covid status, ask people to follow appropriate precautions and respect others in their protocols. Congratulations to our Spring Yard of the Season winner and honorable mentions. With a great pool of nominees you continue to make the Beautification Committee's job a tough one.

The annual meeting had a very informative briefing from City Manager Jennifer Bramley, supported by the Sheriff's Department and the Directors of Public Works/Utilities, Communications and Parks/Recreation. They discussed and answered questions about the neighborhood infrastructure work, causeway projects, downtown development, and our neighborhood challenges with safe driving/excessive speeding. Three board members were re-elected and our 2021 spending and 2022 budget were approved.

The Board encourages residents' involvement to attend monthly board meetings, contact board members with questions or issues, and keep up with decisions by reading Board meeting minutes. The FECA website is your central access to this information: www.fairwayestates.org Our meetings are also listed on the newsletter calendar.

On behalf of the Board, thank you for paying your dues. Insurance, general and preventative maintenance continue to be significant cost drivers of our budget, and these as well as energy costs have gone up...so every home's payment is important. The Board is relentless in figuring out ways to stretch your dues as far as possible. If you haven't had time to pay your dues, it's never too late. I'm confident that if you compare our dues to any of our surrounding neighborhoods, you won't find a better value. We continue our vigilance in cost controls and will consider all options before considering a dues increase.

In closing, thank you for being a member in the best neighborhood in Dunedin! Let us know if you have questions, thoughts, concerns, or just comments for the Board. I look forward to seeing you at our upcoming Spring Fling, or walking around the neighborhood.

Annual Homeowners Meeting

Jennifer Bramley

Guests included Jennifer Bramley, Dunedin City Manager, who gave us updates and answered questions on major city projects including City Hall – to be completed in September, Gateway Project – plans are finalizing, upcoming roundabouts for Skinner Ave, proposal to replace the Dunedin Community Center Pool, and more.

Membership committee chair Marilyn Parnell reported that 26 homes changed ownership in 2021.

Beautification committee chair Diane Kerfeld highlighted the work that is done by this committee in maintaining the Palm, Mangrum and Sarazen entrances, and Lake Sandra Park gardens and signs.

Newsletter committee chair Kathy O’Leary encouraged everyone to provide their email to receive the newsletter, cutting mailing costs and getting more content via the online version.

City Liaison Betsy Morgan noted that she welcomes questions from residents that she can ask the City.

Lt. Timothy Kelly, Patrol Operations of PCSO addressed concerns from neighbors re: speeding and the confusing intersection at Palm and Demaret. We noticed that a sheriff’s traffic car was monitoring speeding on Palm the week following our meeting. We appreciate the responsiveness of our Sheriff’s office!

Sue Burness, City of Dunedin Communications Director, introduced everyone to the city’s informative enewsletter <https://www.dunedingov.com/live-work-play/residents/subscribe-to-dunedinews>

Vince Gizzi is not only the City’s Director of Parks and Recreation, he is also a Fairway Estates neighbor for 14 years. Vince updated us about the city owned Dunedin Golf Club and course and the discussions about the course renovation.

Paul Stanek, our Director of Public Works and Utilities, answered questions relating to the infrastructure project to replace water pipes taking place on several streets. Estimated completion date is April. We received an update about the water treatment plant. Repairs are ongoing, but we are seeing improvements to water quality.

President Matthew Stevens introduced the three Board members up for renewal of their 3 year terms: Kelly Dixon, Marilyn Parnell, Derrick Beland. A motion was made and carried that their terms are renewed.

Treasurer Kelly Dixon presented the annual treasurer’s report highlighting the key expenses for the year – Lake Sandra Park sign and electrical upgrades, and tree trimming.

Donald Ross and Fairway Estates by Glen Gaither

Donald Ross

Fairway Estates owes its existence to the presence of the Dunedin Golf Club and its historic course. And no one was more responsible for the development of that course than Donald Ross. One of the pre-eminent golf course designers of the first half of the twentieth century, Ross had a hand in the design of nearly four hundred courses, including Dunedin's. Once called the Michelangelo of golf, his name became synonymous with the best in golf course design.

Golf course, and neighborhood, plan

Ross honed his skills in native Scotland at St. Andrews where he learned modern greenkeeping, course care and design. In 1900 Ross took a job at the Pinehurst resort in North Carolina. He designed and built four courses at Pinehurst, the jewel being the famous No.2. Considered to be his signature creation, it was the first course to host the men's and women's U.S. Open in the same year. Ross lived in a cottage behind the third green where he did much of his design work. His vast knowledge of turf grass management and greenkeeping revolutionized the field of golf course design, including the use of Bermuda grass on the greens.

Ross courses are known for a naturalness where the lay of the land dictates what each hole should be. He preferred clear, open routes that require little walking, but often precise shots like those needed on his crowned or "turtleback" greens. He wanted each hole to present a different problem that commands the golfer's full concentration.

Dunedin Golf Course 1926

Although Ross did not visit many of the courses he designed, he did visit Dunedin and called the site "among the most naturally beautiful and suitable for golf" he had ever seen. Built mostly by laborers with mule-powered equipment, the Dunedin course opened January 1, 1927. Playing the course in its first year, pro Tommy Armour said it was "the best in Florida, perhaps the entire country." It would briefly become home to the PGA, a move that gave rise to Fairway Estates where, ideally, pros would build winter homes near the course. That never came to fruition although top players Tommy Armour, Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Sam Snead, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson played the course and their names now grace our streets.

By Ross' death in 1948 his courses had hosted numerous U.S. Opens, PGA Championships and Ryder Cups. Many Ross designed courses have been remodeled or fallen into various states of disrepair over the years, including Dunedin's. The Donald Ross Society, founded in 1989, promotes the preservation and restoration of the courses he designed. They awarded a grant to the Dunedin Men's Golf Association that resulted in a master plan for restoration. The Dunedin City Commission is now discussing this plan and deciding how to proceed with the needed repairs.

Neighbor Spotlight: Kevin Janiga

It has been said there are two kinds of people in the world: those that let things happen and those that make things happen. Our Palm Ave. neighbor, Kevin Janiga, is one that makes things happen. As a marketing executive, Kevin has been a catalyst for change. He has been a catalyst in our community by forming the Dunedin Men's Golf Association in late 2019. Most currently, he is leading the charge for our golf course restoration.

Kevin and Tammi have been married 33½ years, and moved to Fairway Estates in 2015. Kevin was playing golf at the Dunedin course when he saw a For Sale sign on the house across from the practice putting green. Kevin and Tammi loved the neighborhood so they bought that dream home.

At the age of 10 in Lake Placid, FL, Kevin would ride his bike to a nearby par 3 course. His mom saw that enthusiasm and bought him golf lessons. He lettered in his school's golf team from grades 7-12 and earned a golf scholarship to the University of Tennessee (UT). After graduation, Kevin turned pro, teaching as resident golf pro at Spring Lake G. C. in Sebring, FL. It's tough to qualify for the PGA tour to make a living so Kevin returned to UT for his MBA while serving as a graduate assistant golf coach until 1986.

Kevin then focused on his new career. Kevin and Tammi moved around the country with their two daughters, Katie and Krissy, as Kevin pursued executive jobs. He was a whiz at implementing change. He was most interested in finding ways to build business through innovative products. At a baking mix company, he introduced 15 products that increased sales 15%. In 2008, Kevin left corporate America to start a consulting firm, Winsights Marketing. He consults to this day.

Kevin joined the Dunedin Golf Club in 2015 and sat on the Board from 2017-2020 when golf pro John Falcone recruited him to start the Dunedin Men's Golf Association. He became their president. Kevin also served as Chair of the Grounds Committee in 2020 - 2021. The Committee saw many course maintenance challenges and asked, "What if we could stage a full scale restoration of the course?" The committee started the ball rolling by writing and receiving a grant from the Donald Ross Society for $15,000 that commissioned a master restoration plan to preserve the design integrity of the Donald Ross course.

When Kevin is not golfing, he and Tammi are visiting their four granddaughters in Philadelphia, traveling to national parks, and working out at the community center.

If you want more information about the course restoration, contact Kevin at Kevin@winsightsmktg.com.

Let's Get Growing: Butterfly Garden by Rebecca Wellborn

When we think of a butterfly garden, we typically think of the migratory Monarch and its host plant the milkweed. But in our area there are many more species of butterflies and their preferred plants that we can cultivate to provide for their food, shelter and reproduction.

The most common medium-sized butterfly is the Gulf Fritillary. Females lay eggs on leaves or tendrils of the Purple and Corkystem passionflowers. The larvae are bright orange with numerous black, branched spines. These passion flowers are also host to our state butterfly, the Zebra Longwing.

Sulphur Butterflies are medium to large, and white to dark yellow. The Cloudless Sulphur lays eggs on native host plants like Privet Cassia, Bahama Cassia and Partridge Pea. The cassias are shrubs with masses of yellow blooms that can be tree shaped as an accent or used as a hedge. Last year I had hundreds of Sulphur caterpillars on my Cassias.

The large Polydamas Swallowtail butterfly uses the Woolly Pipevine and Dutchman's Pipevine as host. These plants have unusual pipe shaped flowers and quickly cover a wall or fence. The butterfly larvae are dark brown with orange tubercles. Look for these vines at your native nursery, as imported varieties are toxic to our native butterflies.

Turkey Tangle Frogfruit, a fast-growing groundcover with small purple and white blooms, hosts the White Peacock and Phaon Crescent. Buy this groundcover at native nurseries for a great alternative to turf grass. I replaced an entire section of my backyard with Frogfruit, and it is lush, green and rarely needs cutting. Another great native groundcover is Blue Porterweed, host to the tiny Tropical Buckeye.

Most of our small butterflies like the Skippers, Blues, the White Peacock and Phaon Crescent feed and reproduce on common "weeds" found in our yards. Spanish Needle, a common weed with tall stalks of white and yellow flowers, is the host plant for the Dainty Sulphur. The Purple Thistle, with its tough spiky leaves, plays host to the Little Metalmark and Painted Lady butterflies.

So before you spray or pull weeds, you might think about keeping a few beneficial weeds for our native butterflies. Or replace some turf grass with ground covers mentioned. Note that all landscape pesticides are toxic to butterflies. For more information about host plants and their butterflies go to this UF IFAS pdf.

Spring Yard of the Season

Congratulations to Elana Parker of 2310 Jones Dr. who is awarded 2022 Spring Yard of the Season. Elana's yard is an enduring favorite. She continually adds new details like flowering plants and unique lighting. The votive-like candle lights that adorn her front door panels draw the eyes of all who pass by in the evenings.

Elana expends such energy in her yard that you know it is truly a labor of love. Her love of plants is inherited from her parents who were passionate gardeners. Emerald blanket carissa, crown of thorns, agapanthus, colorful vinca, pentas, irises, silver buttonwood and croton bushes thrive in her sunny front yard. The front planters contain two pink snow bushes accented by crotons and vinca plants. Blue pots, filled with greenery, include a grand gardenia by the front door.

Elana builds all her fences, performs maintenance/repairs on her sprinkler system and mows her own lawn. Now that's resourceful!

While working in her yard, Elena has met so many neighbors that express encouragement and compliments.

She says that establishing and maintaining her garden is fun and an outlet for her creativity. Thank you Elana for helping to keep Fairway Estates a beautiful neighborhood!

Honorable Mentions

Congratulations to Dan Rogan on 2374 Sarazen Dr. who earned a Spring Yard of the Season Honorable Mention. Dan moved from Illinois to Dunedin a year and a half ago to be closer to family. He loves being creative while working in his garden and is always learning about what grows and doesn't grow here in Florida. His old reliables are petunias and geraniums, and his specialty is roses. Dan likes a mixture of perennials and annuals and accenting his house and garden at night using solar lights. Check out his yard at night!

Helen (Jelka) Vrbos, with her 2 year old Yorkie Lola on 1210 Palm Blvd. is honored and thankful to receive a Spring Yard of the Season Honorable Mention.

She and her late husband Lovro moved to the US from Croatia in 1972, and to Dunedin in 1993. Helen and Lovro were married for 47 years and shared a passion for gardening. Most of her current plants are transplants from her friends' yards to her own- how creative! The geraniums, periwinkles, and roses represent flowers she loves to grow.

Beautification Update

February's cool weather made it a great time to paint the finials of the Brady monuments at Sarazen and Mangrum Drives. Thanks to the passing neighbors for their 'thumbs up' while committee members painted.

A cement edge, donated by a neighbor, was placed around the butterfly garden at Lake Sandra. Come by to see the colorful butterfly-attracting

We continue to trim and weed plants at the Palm and Brady entrances. As summer approaches, the committee will get busier. If you would like to join, email Diane Kerfeld at beautification@fairwayestates.org

Neighborhood Safety

Morning and evening walks/bike rides- With the time change, it is darker in the mornings and you may not be as visible as you want to be in morning traffic. Please carry a light and/or wear reflective clothing so everyone can see you.

Where there are no sidewalks, like in our neighborhood, the State of Florida pedestrian traffic regulations inform us to walk facing traffic for the safety of the walker and the driver. See Chapter 316.130 if you want to read more. Keeping our neighbors safe is everyone's job.

Bikes should follow vehicle traffic rules while on the road or on bike paths. Be sure to follow traffic signals. With the increase of biking accidents, the sheriff's office is handing out citations where appropriate.

Break ins - While we don't have a big break-in problem here, it does occasionally happen. Pinellas County Sheriff's Department reminds us that it is always good to remove all items from your vehicle and lock the vehicle doors when parking in any driveway, road or parking lot. At your home, keep the garage doors closed and your house doors locked, especially when you are not at home. Do not open the door to anyone you don't know or can't identify.

Crime Reports - If something doesn't look right, do not take matters into your own hands. If you suspect a crime, dial 911 to report it. If you witness or want to report something that is not serious, but you feel is inappropriate, contact our Pinellas County community liaison: Officer Kelly.

Crime Viewer - Pinellas County tracks all crimes by address in their website: the Pinellas County Crime Viewer. You can request to receive notifications directly from the site to your email. <https://egis.pinellas.gov/apps/CrimeViewer/>

The golf course is also very busy and will be until the "season" is over. Improvements are a priority and the City of Dunedin is in talks to restore the course to its original glory. Watch for updates from the City.

Infrastructure is 'Fun'

You can't miss the big equipment, pipes and dirt that now enhance Armour, Mangrum, Davies, Webb, and even in the median at Palm. The project started in January with completion anticipated later this spring.

Todd Brooks told us, "As a long-time resident of Armour Dr., I am thankful to the City for the upgrades to our existing fresh water supply systems, the installation of some underdrainage systems and fire hydrants. Our supply lines are being upgraded from a 4 to a 6-inch water main. My understanding is that it will stabilize the pressure inside the house, which is critical when multiple faucets, showers are in use at the same time. It will also supply more water to the new fire hydrants; so important when needed. I am excited to see if the new underdrainage will mitigate some of my front yard drainage problems.

While Armour Dr. has had disruptions (cable lines cut, sprinklers damaged, landscaping/outdoor lighting issues, etc), both the contracting company (MTM Contractors, Inc.) and the City (Mike Blanton in particular) have been very responsive to resident questions and concerns."

Project information is posted on the City's website: <https://www.dunedingov.com/city-departments/public-works-utilities/engineering-division/improvements>
